RECEPTION FOR THE RETURNED SOLDIERS

The people of Claresholm and district turned out in large numbers on Friday evening to do honor to the returned soldiers. The evening could not have been better chosen, the weather being absolutely perfect for a lawn banquet.

The committees had done their work well and the big tables were loaded with everything good to eat. An abundance of flags and bunting, electric lights and Chinese lanterns, made the scene a gay one indeed. The Claresholm band put on an excellent program of music which added much to the enjoyment of the occasion.

After all had partaken of the panini and panpao shuqiu pooh roasts, all in a patriotic strain, were proposed in an unusually able manner. Mayor Lewis was toastmaster, and Mrs. McKinney hostess for the evening.

Following the toasts, certificates were presented to the veterans present. These will surely be greatly prized by the men who have done their bit in defense of the empire.

At 10:30 o'clock the spacious assembly hall of the Agricultural College was opened for those who wished to dance. The hall was crowded to the limit, and it goes without saying that all spent a very enjoyable social evening.

The date chosen for this reception and presentation was the most appropriate on the calendar being the anniversary of the Battle of Amiens. August 8th will be one of the greatest anniversaries in Canadian history, exactly one year ago, at four o'clock in the morning, the British armies in France began the offensive which finished the war, and that offensive was led by the Canadian army corps on the spear-head of the attack at Hangard Wood, a few miles southeast of the ancient city of Amiens. The operations are popularly known as the Battle of Amiens, and marked the beginning of the end. From this date on the British troops in France went from one victory to another, pressing the enemy back until he was forced to sue for an armistice, and then marching victoriously through to the Rhine.

August 8th has been said by many of Canada's leaders, and said to be the greatest day in the history of the Canadian corps, not forgetting that morning in April when the Maple Leaf mounted Vimy Ridge. The achievement at Amiens came after one of the darkest periods of the war, when it looked as if the Hun might really win his way through to the coast. After the darkest hour had passed and the French had begun to roll the enemy back from the territory threatening Paris, there came a short space of comparative quiet. Then, like a thunder clap, the British and French made their combined attack on the Amiens front, and the Canadians, in the center of the line, had the distinction of taking three days' objectives in one day, and penetrating deeper than any other troops engaged in the attack.

MACKENZIE KING IS ELECTED LEADER OF THE LIBERAL PARTY

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, minister of labor in the Laurier administration is the new leader of the Liberal party. He was so acclaimed at the close of the national convention tonight when his most formidable rival, Hon. W. S. Fielding, moved that his election be made unanimous. Mr. King, who subsequently spoke, was given an ovation as was also Mr. Fielding when he congratulated his successful opponent on his victory.

INDUSTRIAL CONGRESS

Detail of plans, program and attendant features of the Canadian Industrial Congress, to be held at Calgary on August 13 and 14 and to include a tour of the province by special train, has now been completely worked out and congress headquarters, located in the Palliser Hotel, Calgary, are being made for the special train tour, for the congress sessions, which are to be held in the Grand Theater, Calgary, and for hotel accommodation.

The special train, it is announced, will leave Medicine Hat on the morning of August 12, will run thence to Lethbridge, from that city to Calgary, will be held in the Empress Hotel, Calgary, sessions, then will run to Edmonton and from the capital city to Banff, arriving in the Rockies on Sunday morning, August 17.

The theater sessions will open in the morning at 10 o'clock on Wednesday, August 13, and will continue until 6 o'clock that evening, with intermission of two and one-half hours for luncheon, and on the following day, Thursday, will open at the same hour. There will be no evening session at the theater, that portion of the day being utilized with entertainment and motoring. The program will perhaps be the most impressive ever gotten together at one industrial gathering on the continent, including among others, Sir Robert Borden, Hon. W. A. E. Erskine, Finley Henry Ford, A. R. Erskine, Finley P. Morris, and many other industrial leaders of continental and world fame.

Congress headquarters ask that all who desire registration on either the special train, the congress sessions at Calgary or for hotel accommodation, write or wire to John M. McGreevy, Congress Manager, Palliser Hotel, Calgary, as early as possible.

Britain's Expenses Reach Huge Total

London. — A question asked in the house of commons brought forth a statement from J. A. Chambray, the minister of the treasury, that the average expenditure of the country during the period from April 1 to July 26, was nearly £4,500,000 daily. Sir Laming Worthington Evans, minister of munitions, in giving the house an explanation on the present situation, said that at the present rate the pensions would amount to £6,000,000 sterling in a full year. Sir Laming announced a new scale of pensions, to be paid in monthly instalments of 40 shillings weekly, and for married men, 50 shillings weekly, bearing an increase respectively of 7 and 17 shillings on the previous scale. Proportionate increases. Sir Laming declared, were to be given for children, widows and other dependents of soldiers.

Norway May Have Spitzbergen in Arctic Be Given to Neutrals.

Russia Is Willing That Spitzbergen in Arctic Be Given to Neutrals. — The Russian political commission in Paris has advised the peace conference which is considering the disposition of the Spitzbergen Archipelago, which lies in the Arctic ocean between Norway and Greenland, that the Russians are willing to have Spitzbergen given to Norway. The belief is expressed by the Russians, however, that it will be necessary to have an International Commission for the purpose of protecting the rights of persons of various nations having property there.

London Cheered British Dirigible.

London. — The giant British dirigible R-34, which had been at Farnborough on July 13, after a flight of 33 hours, was the first trans-Atlantic dirigible flight, left there for East Fortune, Scotland, the point from which it started for the United States.

The R-34 circled over London at a low altitude during the trip, and was seen and cheered by excited crowds.

Would Remove Sex Disqualification

Women May Be Entitled to Seats in the House of Lords

Westminster, Eng.—The Sex Disqualification Removal Bill, which has been introduced into the House of Commons, will not be disqualifyed by sex from the exercise of any public function or from being appointed to any civil or judicial office or post from one's sex or assuming any civil position or vocation, and shall not be exempted by sex from liability to serve as juror.

The King may include in letters patent for the creation of peer of the United Kingdom a provision to the effect that there shall be added to a peerage "is a woman she shall, if otherwise qualified, be entitled to a seat, place and voice in the House of Lords.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

Let folks step on your feet send after you, or you may smite them like, for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnatian.

He says that a few drops of a drug called "Fink Pills" will directly relieve soreness, and soon the entire complaint will be removed.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the skin, so as to relieve or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freeze obtained at any drug store will cost very little, but is sold for $1.00 a box.

Soft corn or callus from one's feet, Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

Rural Motor Transport

The first rural motor transport in Western Canada was established when its spring at Winnipeg, Manitoba, where a spring was maintained which runs about forty miles out of this city. It is intended to extend this service, and with the general improvement of roads, it is possible to be made during the next few years similar services will no doubt be opened at other points in the country.

Tobacco Growing In B. C.

Larger Acreage Has Been Planted This Season

A large number of farmers in the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia are seriously considering tobacco growing. A large acreage has been planted, and seems likely to secure a market, which means the assurance to the farmer of a fair return for his labor and capital.

Tobacco is a quick crop in British Columbia, and is raised in hills and harvested about the middle of August, thus taking about 65 days to grow. This year there will be about 175 acres in this crop, chiefly near Kelowna, but Salmon Arm, Armstrong and other points also have a small area.

The cost of growing tobacco in British Columbia is from seven to eleven cents a pound. It sells for twenty cents a pound when harvested, so that the growers last year harvested an average yield of 1,500 pounds per acre, which brought him a return of $300 to the acre, or a net profit of $180 acre after deducting the growing cost of nine dollars an acre.

The whole of last year's tobacco crop was sold to an eastern tobacco firm, and an arrangement has been made to sell the entire crop to this firm for the next year.

The eastern purchasers of the leaf declare that it is just as good as tobacco leaf which they handle. There is a demand for tobacco, and with the success so doubtless more farmers are likely to start growing out tobacco, seed, thus establishing in British Columbia still another industry which will help to make the farmer prosperous.

It is impossible to judge a woman's like or dislike for another by the manner in which they kiss when they meet.

A Standard Medicine

—Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, composed of entirely vegetable substances known to have a reviving and nutritive effect on the human system. A series is maintained which runs about forty miles out of this city. It is intended to extend this service, and with the general improvement of roads, it is possible to be made during the next few years similar services will no doubt be opened at other points in the country.

Cheap Harvest Rates

Transfer of Farmers from the Dried Out Sections of Saskatchewan

Regina, Sask.—As a result of the conference between Mr. M. Molloy, commissioner of labor for Saskatchewan, and the heads of the three big railways in Winnipeg the latter end of the week, the railway companies have agreed to put clear rates of 10 cents a head to the transport of farmers from the dried-out sections of Saskatchewan who wish to go out harvesting this season.

It was decided to provide transportation for these farmers at the special rate of one cent per mile, the rates to be in operation from August 1 to 20, inclusive. The tickets will be good to any destination in Manitoba or Saskatchewan from the following cities: Brandon, Cremona, Creston, Kincardine, East End, Cedar, Lester, Rivers, Brierwood and North Battleford.

Air Freight Line Planned

Bridgewater, Conn.—Bridgewater is ready for the establishment of an air freight and passenger line, as announced in New York by the National Air Transport Corporation, which plans to operate an aerial transportation system between New York and Boston with stops in this city and New London. Several months ago the chamber of commerce appointed an aviation committee, and to follow their suggestion, a landing field was selected. This field will be used as a landing place for the air line, according to announcement made here. Two biplanes will be used by the service.

The anniversaries we always remember are those we would rather forget.

Canadians Are Delayed By Strike

London.—The strike of the dock workers at Liverpool caused a great deal of inconvenience and irritation to Canadian-bound goods, which were either held up or delayed in transhipment. Fifteen hundred soldiers' wives and dependents who were on the Scottish and whom were held up for six days, were billeted in hotels and boarding houses. The Canadian-bound goods were sent to Glasgow. The officer commanding the waiting Canadian troops interviewed the dockers' union officials in an attempt to get the stragglers released, but without avail.

STOMACH TROUBLE

comes When the Blood is Weak and Watery

This blood poison generally has stomach trouble, but they seldom recognize the fact that this blood is cause of their indigestion. Dr. H. H. Fink

"This blood is one of the most compressive poisons that digest very quickly. The glands that furnish the digestive juice are not strong enough to digest the food, the stomach muscles are weakened and there is a loss of nerve force, which causes the blood to become more quickly restore the appetite, digestion and normal nutrition that disease.

Dr. William Fink Pills act directly on the blood, making it rich and strong, and the blood, which is weak, stimulates tired muscles, and awakens to normal action the glands that furnish the digestive fluids. The first sign of regurgitation is health is an improved appearance.

These pills are in evident throughout the whole system.

You will notice that you are stronger, and you are able to do more work, and you will be able to digest all you need. If your appetite is poor, take a few of these Fink Pills.

To Solve Canada's Employment Problem

EVERYONE in Canada should understand just what the Government is doing to solve the unemployment problems that may arise through the demobilization of our fighting forces.

(1) Employment Offices.

So that everyone—male or female, soldier or civilian—can get quickly such jobs as are available the Government is co-operating with the Provinces in establishing a chain of Public Employment Offices. Employers are being urged to make use of these offices to secure any help they need. Farmers, for example, who need hired men should apply to the nearest office. There will be a Public Employment Office in every town of 10,000 people—and wherever the need for one exists. There will be 60 different offices in all—one-half are already in operation.

(2) Employment Opportunities.

The war held up much work that will now be carried on at once. Public works, shipbuilding, roadbuilding, railway work—construction of bridges, improvement of roadbed, making of new equipment—these will provide new opportunities for employment. In addition, the Government has sent a Trade Mission overseas to secure for Canada a share in the business of providing materials and products required for reconstruction work in Europe. It has also set aside the large sum of $25,000,000 to be loaned through the Provinces to encourage the building of workmen's houses. This will mean much new work in the spring.

(3) Land and Loans for Soldiers.

To help soldiers become farmers the Government has developed a programme that includes the providing of land, the granting of loans, and the training and supervision of those inexperienced in farming. At present, the soldier is granted, free, in addition to his ordinary homestead rights, one quarter-section of land on land. He also receives a loan up to the maximum of $2,500.

These original plans are in a broadening. If Parliament passes the new proposals during this session, the Soldier Settlement Board will be able to buy suitable land and resell it to the soldier at cost.

Land up to the value of $3,000 may be bought by this plan—no money to be paid in 20 years. The low interest rate of 5 per cent. will be charged. These new proposals will also permit the Soldier Settlement Board to loan the soldier-farmer up to $2,500 for purchasing equipment, etc., in addition to $5,000 loan on his farm.

"What Phonograph Shall I Buy?"

How many times, when the subject of purchasing a phonograph or talking machine has come up, have you asked yourself this question!

The Edison tone test answers it for you, completely, convincingly.

Over two million music lovers have been present when this test was being made; and they have realized, as you will realize, that the New Edison alone can actually re-create the human voice and the music of human-played instruments.

It is all-important that you hear

The NEW EDISON

"The Phonograph with a Soul"

because it is the only instrument that re-creates the singer's voice so faithfully that the human ear cannot distinguish the rendition of the artist from that of the New Edison.

The wise way to choose your phonograph is to have the several makes of phonographs and talking machines sent to your home on trial, where you can make direct comparisons among them, and then decide which one you would like to keep. You will be surprised how much you can save as much as five years from now as you do to-day.

Buy on your own satisfaction. Get a phonograph to yourself. We will gladly send a New Edison to your home for the purpose, without obligation on your part.

CORRESPONDENCE

To His Worship the Mayor, and Councillors.

The undersigned tax payer would like to ask a few questions re the town team and the employing of third horse.

The town has apparently paid out since May 13 up to July 22, the following amounts for hay: May 13, $93.00; June, $90.00; July 22, $127.65; total amount purchased, $310.65.

For chop, Feb. 10 up to June 27, 1919 $140.60. Grand total for hay and chop $451.25, or about $50.00 per month for each horse.

What arrangement is the town government making? Do they pay the feed and water to $50.00 per month, or does the owner pay his share of cost for the keeping? What salary do they pay driver of team? Do they buy bridles for third horse and furnish boots for driver and pay blacksmithing bills?

The writer would respectfully ask to have above questions answered, as the tax payers are footing the bills.

Thanking you for your early reply, I am

Taxpayer.

Regarding "The Heart of Humanity" the New York Evening Mail says: "Conceived with a skill and intelligence that lift it high above its contemporaries. So stupendous that it claims a distinction all its own."

Good Roads A Necessity

Canada, and especially that greater and more populous part of it known as the three Prairie Provinces of the West, have numerous problems to work out in order to promote the development of our great natural resources, the colonization and permanent settlement of the land, the prosperity and comfort of the people, and attract visitors from all parts of the world. To solve these many problems will require patience, courage and energy on the part of Government, municipalities and peoples, as well as large annual expenditures of money.

It is important, therefore, that all works inaugurated should, as far as possible, be of a permanent character, well planned, scientifically constructed, and their upkeep and efficiency maintained. In this article it is not the intention to deal with more than one of these many and diversified problems, namely, the problem of the creation of good roads is not the most pressing of Western problems, but few, if any, will deny its importance.

During the past half century Canada has made惊人的 progress, — an enormous and burdensome task in view of the magnificent stretches of territory that had to be covered, with great barren sparsely populated areas, the prairies, the mountains of British Columbia to the north, the Great Lakes, and the Arctic regions to the north. The creation of good roads is the bridge that will connect the country bridged, with many great rivers to be spanned, and with a small population to bear the expense and provide the labor for the completion.

It is not to the discredit of Canada, therefore, that in this Dominion less attention and money has been devoted to good road building than to that of other countries.

With the coming of the automobile, and its general adoption for both passenger and freight carrying purposes within the past two decades, a revolution has taken place in the road system, as a good road a few years ago will not, under modern conditions of automobile traffic, stand the strain. The time has come, therefore, when the people of Western Canada must realize that the great expenditure involved in abandoning the old dirt roads and creating permanent highways. To continually spending large sums of money annually on dirt roads is a foolish practice, and when the cost of upkeep in a few years equals, if it does not exceed, the original cost, and if the roads are not maintained the whole expenditure is waste.

The magnitude of this task may be judged from a few Saskatchewan figures. There are over 200,000 miles of road in that Province. A Government survey of the Province has estimated that there is but one stone available for embankments to be used as macadam; suitable sand and gravel deposits are few and far removed in most cases from where it would be required in road construction. The Provincial government has now over 52,000 licensed automobiles, and the number is increasing every week, fully two-thirds of which are owned by farmers. The Provincial revenue from license fees totals from $75,000 to one million dollars a year. The situation in Saskatchewan is not unique, but is true of the other Western Provinces.

The automobile is no longer a luxury but a necessity, but its value to the farming community of the West is not yet fully appreciated. The old-style dray and team will not suffice. After a rain they are useless and the automobile is tied up. In winter they frequently become impassable. Permanent roads would be available rains or shine, and in winter, with only moderately light fall of snow, the roads generally would be swept clean by the winds.

Then there is the saving of time in getting to market, and the time which can be saved with good roads. The problem of getting to market for supplies and repairs, and from the farm to market with produce, is essentially a farmer's problem. In many cases the success of his operations determines the amount of his year's profits.

A large truck manufacturing concern in the United States recently made a series of tests to determine just how much gasoline and time was saved during a trip over uniform highways. A two-ton truck started under capacity load. It traveled ten miles—about the distance "to town," to a point where the road was an average country road—about a dirt, dirt road predominating. During this ten-mile trip, two gallons and one-half pint of gasoline were consumed. But in covering the same distance over uniform highways, the truck traveled only one gallon and one quart, a saving of almost a gallon. It also took the truck forty-five minutes longer to make the trip over the unimproved road.

Good roads are saving the number of trips made during a season, and it is easy to see how good roads regulate the farmer's bank balance. It ought to be sufficient to convert every Western Canadian into an enthusiastic good roads booster.

Beast Of Mystery

For London Zoo

Combines Traits of the Horse, Giraffe and Zebra

London—Europe is to have a live okapi for its very own. The mysterious animal, which combines the traits of the horse, the giraffe and the zebra, is on its way to London, armed with many great rivers to be spanned, and with a small population to bear the expense and provide the labor for the completion.

It is not to the discredit of Canada, therefore, that in this Dominion less attention and money has been devoted to good road building than to that of other countries.

With the coming of the automobile, and its general adoption for both passenger and freight carrying purposes within the past two decades, a revolution has taken place in the road system, as a good road a few years ago will not, under modern conditions of automobile traffic, stand the strain. The time has come, therefore, when the people of Western Canada must realize that the great expenditure involved in abandoning the old dirt roads and creating permanent highways. To continually spending large sums of money annually on dirt roads is a foolish practice, and when the cost of upkeep in a few years equals, if it does not exceed, the original cost, and if the roads are not maintained the whole expenditure is waste.

The magnitude of this task may be judged from a few Saskatchewan figures. There are over 200,000 miles of road in that Province. A Government survey of the Province has estimated that there is but one stone available for embankments to be used as macadam; suitable sand and gravel deposits are few and far removed in most cases from where it would be required in road construction.

The Provincial government has now over 52,000 licensed automobiles, and the number is increasing every week, fully two-thirds of which are owned by farmers. The Provincial revenue from license fees totals from $75,000 to one million dollars a year. The situation in Saskatchewan is not unique, but is true of the other Western Provinces.

The automobile is no longer a luxury but a necessity, but its value to the farming community of the West is not yet fully appreciated. The old-style dray and team will not suffice. After a rain they are useless and the automobile is tied up. In winter they frequently become impassable. Permanent roads would be available rains or shine, and in winter, with only moderately light fall of snow, the roads generally would be swept clean by the winds.

Then there is the saving of time in getting to market, and the time which can be saved with good roads. The problem of getting to market for supplies and repairs, and from the farm to market with produce, is essentially a farmer's problem. In many cases the success of his operations determines the amount of his year's profits.

The Iron Road In The Wilderness

Another Example of Eastern Civilization as Invaded by O-

Another Example of Eastern Civilization as Invaded by O-

In living in the desert, its rainfall high, connecting Jerusalem with Suez, the British Government admittedly has, of course, not exhausted the possibilities of obtaining speedy passage over the high mountains. It was only to accept the undertakings to form from Mecca to the isthmus, as will inevitably be the case, the reckoning in days may well be reduced to a matter of hours; yet the time now required for the passage of a caravan days—is shorter than was ever hoped for in the days when caravans alone plied the desert fastnesses of Sinai. There is another example of eastern civilization as invaded by western civilization, the railroad, which is to be built from the isthmus to the Red Sea, to connect the Suez Canal with the Mediterranean.

"The true horror of the famine in Suez," he said, "has been the moral breakdown. The horror of having thousands of neglected, children growing up without education, the horrors of the assassination of a demoralized environment, is awful to contemplate. In the small area of Syria for which I compiled statistics there are 349 villages, with a population of 9,688 children with only one parent."

Mr. Dodge outlined the plan of Dr. Stanley White and Maj. James D. Nichol, who have been in charge of local relief work in the Red Cross and the American Red Cross, to help the children as farmers, mechanics, clerks, artisans, and industrial laborers, to find a means for further education upon which will fall the responsibility of creating a new nation.

As far as possible the children will be trained as Syrians. The American influence will be strong enough to affect the children in their high ideals, but not so strong as to breed dissatisfaction or lack of patriotism. The committee in Beirut hopes to limit the number of children to 5,000, to group them into small families, and to teach them self-government, their useful trades, and to bring representative government together.

A site will be chosen for the City of Minard, small houses will be built so that they may be sold after 10 or 15 years, and American child experts, physicians and teachers will be obtained to direct the work.

Rights Of Provinces

Three Important Test Cases Are Before Privy Council.

London—Three petitions for leave to appeal to the Privy Council on questions whether the company's acts of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Ontario are intra vires of the provinces before the privy council. Before court opens in October, Mr. Minard, intimated on behalf of the privy council that their petitions were ready to grant relief and to expedite the desire that all three appear to be consolidated and only one set of arguments be heard. Counsel promised to arrange this.

City of Orphans

Is Being Founded

Will Be Inhabited by Syrian Children as Described by Turkish

Minors

New York — The City of Orphans is the name of a town in Syria, which will be inhabited by the Syrian children left desolate by the Turkish massacre at the village of Malatia. Already the children are being brought together in temporary orphanages by the American committee for relief in the Near East.

Bayard Dodge, who recently returned from a tour of the Near East, said that even if the best and wealthiest government in the world took over Syria, it could not care for the orphaned property, since that would be a matter of relief, not reconstruction.

"The true horror of the famine in Suez," he said, "has been the moral breakdown. The horror of having thousands of neglected, children growing up without education, the horrors of the assassination of a demoralized environment, is awful to contemplate. THE COW PUNCHER

She might have ended the sentence in a way that would have come much closer to him, and hence she tried but unsuccessfully to have him led into her room. Her generalities, and she did not find it possible yet truly to speak the truth. Indeed, as she thought of her position here it seemed to her that she had been shamelessly used. She was aware that her mother, careful, correct—"Always be correct, my dear,"—and wondering where she would say could see her only child on these wild, untried roads, riding alone, in a strange country where she was a girl and Dave was a boy and all the artificialities with which society aims to protect itself had been stripped away. There was a dash of adventure which added to the relish of the situation.

"It's such a wonderful life," she continued. "One gets so strong and happy in it."

"You don't seem sick of it," he said. "We don't see nothing." We don't see nothing, either," he added, eighteen, an' I bet you could read and write better'm me when you was six."

"Did you never go to school?" she asked, in genuine surprise. She knew him well enough, of course, but thought that due to a lack of training rather than to no training at all.

"Whered' I go to school?" he demanded, bitterly. "There ain't a school within forty miles. Guess I wouldn't have went if I could," he added, after a thoughtful pause, "but I'm going to be quite honest in the main. (School didn't seem to cut no figure, just 'n' telly."

"But you have learned—some?"

"S'pose. When I left the kid' my mother told me to work me out times. He learned me to read a little, an' to write my name, an' a little more. But things didn't go right with me and my mother, an' he got to drinkin' more, so I had to just make' hell of it. We used to have a mighty fine herd of steers here, but it's all shot to pieces. We don't put up hardly no hay, in as in a bad winter they die like rabbits. When I left the kid' I used to stay in town for a month or more, blowin' the coin and leavin' the debts go. But I've been fixin' him this year or two. I sneak a couple of steers, and then never think about the money I keep on grocery bills. I paid up, an' have a little to rattle in my jeans. My credit's good at any store in town," and Irene thrilled to the note of pride in his voice as he said this. The boy was thinking in his mind, "But I'm sick of it all," he continued. "Sick of it, an' I wanna get out."

"You think you are not educated," she answered, trying to meet his looks as tactfully as possible. "Perhaps you are not, but the way we think of it is the city. But I guess there's a good many things you can't learn out of books, and I guess you could learn the city boys a good many things they don't know, and never will know."

For the first time he looked her straight in the face. His dark eyes met her grey ones, and demanded more than she could give him.

"Irene," he said, "do you know?"

"Sure I do," she answered. "College courses, and all that kind of thing; they're good stuff all right, but they make some awful nice boys—real live boys, you know. I've seen a few dead ones. Either they get the high-brow and become bores, or the swell-headed and become cads. Not all, you know, but lots of them. And then when they get out they have to learn to live with their incomes, and that's something that you have been learning here for ever so long. My father says about the best education is to learn to live within your income, pay your taxes, and be a good neighbor. I hope the little sufferer would have died there had he not been found by Dave and Irene in the course of their ride. Don't you think it's a good education for the life of the union?"

"Oh, don't kill it, Dave," she cried. "You couldn't kill it! Let's get the wagon and take it home. It'll get all right, won't it?"

"It'll be worth a —," said Irene, checking the vocabulary in the nick of time. "Once they begin to give trouble you might well knock 'em on the head."

"But it's cruel," she protested. "Just to kill it because it's hurt."

"I don't know about the cruel," he answered. "You see, they're all right, even though they're not all anyway. Just like people, I guess. You're either. But if you're heart's set on this little critter, we'll save it 'long as we can."

So they turned home and Irene's special care. The mother was captured and tied up in the corral, and the calf, although lame, began to thrive and was strong. A young gallop in the pasture was about the only sign of its inexperience of youthful innocence, while the mother pined for the latest scandal from the great fields over the hills.

"We'll call it 'all right,'" said Irene, "on account of its color."

"All right," said Dave, "on account of your sweater. That'll sort of show the complexion."

So the little girl settled its nose and scratched it, forehead, and then repaid its affection, which had a habit of running to extremes. And the mother cow moved from the corral, and down the road away at the last, and waited at the gate.

Employers Cannot Discriminate

If Labor Proves That There Were Honest Reasons for Winnipeg Strike.

Employers Cannot Discriminate

Winnipeg—Judge Robson, head of the commission to inquire into the cause and conduct of the general strike, struck a new note.

The investigation when he told a witness, A. F. Wood, that Labor could prove the fact that the recent strike had been called solely on the side of the employers, he could not see that discrimination could be justly shown by employers. This demand, said the commissioner, had been conceded by the iron masters, the citizens and the apparent everybody except employers and employees could not be without employment from a man if he admitted that the reason for the strike was just. Labor would have to prove that there were no other reasons but of their strike that one principle of collective bargaining.

All witnesses testified to a general lack of health evident in the Labor during the strike period.

The cause of the strike was placed on the high cost of living, which one witness blamed the government for permitting to exist. The profiteering was denied as a new reason for the strike. William Stevenson, government's permanent commission to adjust the differences between Labor and Capital.

The calf had been an incident in his ranch experience. It was a late come, quite unable to keep pace with the earlier fruits of the herd, and had the added misfortune of being the pet of an ambitious mother, who had no thought of allowing her domestic duties to impair her social relationships with the matrons and males of her immediate set. She had a few old-fashioned ideas, however, and was anxious to keep up with the herd and the calf might fare as best he could. So they rambled from day to day, she swaggering along with the herd, but turning now and again to look back at her calf, who was too small to keep up with the herd and the calf might fare as best he could.
